New York Stock Market.

New York, April 29.—Governments dull and steady. Stocks were active, but the prices were again weak most of the day. There was no important news this morning, but the fear of further trouble with the labor organizations and the repeated statements that a general strike is likely to take place about the list of May, have probably sed to some of the selling, during the past two days. The lowest prices were generally made about 1 o clock. Later, there was a rally for fractional amounts, followed by renewed weakness in the last hour, but the market closed firm, generally 35 to 35 higher than the low st prices reached. The only unfavorable report in the afternoon of importance related to an alleged cut by the granger roads between Chicago and Omaha.
